Dear colleagues,

i.nez - International Network for Cooperation in Mental Health has organized together with Professor Matthias Siebeck and Professor Norbert Müller the 4th International Symposium on "Mental Health in Developing Countries". The symposium is open to all staff and students interested in mental health in developing countries.

For a long time "Mental Health" has been the Cinderella of health care, whether in OECD countries or in developing countries. Attempts to introduce mental health on the agenda for global public health are progressing only slowly.

Over half a billion of the world's population are suffering from neuropsychiatric disorders or from alcohol or drug dependence, the vast majority of them in developing countries. Most of them receive no appropriate treatment - many are stigmatized with prejudice and social exclusion. This leads to serious psychological, physical, social, and economic damage.

At least 20% - 30% of patients in developing countries who visit primary care facilities suffer from one or more neuropsychiatric disorders. Particularly noteworthy are chronic illnesses such as: depression, substance dependence, schizophrenia, epilepsy and dementia.

Mental health services should not be a privilege in rich countries - mental health is of enormous importance in low income countries both for the individual and for the development of entire regions.

This symposium intends to give an overview of the importance of mental health for developing countries. Reports from Africa and Asia will illustrate various aspects of the problem. You are cordially invited to participate in the 4th International Symposium "Mental Health in Developing Countries".
